HealthIsSocial May 03, 1:12am via Echofon

katseyedia May 03, 1:12am via TweetChat

T1 depends on MD, openness to new, time, area of practice, how it's used, I see interest/openness 2 access info, less 2 provide info #mHealth

LibTonio May 03, 1:12am via web

T1: Today's physician is very #mHealth savvy I think. I believe that most of them just need a little training on efficiency.

@HealthIsSocial Agreed & yes area for education & support in their efforts #mHealth

BChanMed May 03, 1:13am via TweetChat

@nadinekf Younger physicians tend to be excited about new tech & are pretty tech savvy. Older physicians seem less interested. #mHealth

NateOsit May 03, 1:13am via TweetChat

T1 It seems like specialists have more experience and knowledge of mhealth apps. Generally more focused applications #mhealth

MDRoadMap May 03, 1:14am via web

@BChanMed T1: I agree, I definitely see #mHealth getting more popular everyday but more in the younger physician population

Marckemil May 03, 1:14am via Twitter for Mac

T1 The adoption is ++ fast with the younger crowd. Older people more reluctant in general / as @OrthoOnc says #mHealth

BChanMed May 03, 1:14am via TweetChat

@nadinekf That is, of course, a large generalization... #mHealth

brian_buntz May 03, 1:14am via web

@iMedicalApps: Why has #mHealth not been more widely adopted? Is it because of incentives (reimbursement, etc.) or is it the technology?

OrthoOnc May 03, 1:14am via TweetChat

@HealthIsSocial good question, in this context seems like mobile is the key although mHealth is broader, of course #mhealth

thanks to all those participating in the #mHealth chat - I've got some great links to explore and really enjoyed my first twitter chat

MisraSatish May 03, 1:55am via TweetChat

T3 what will really get attention is when an mHealth intervention is validated in a major disease eg diabetes, HF #mHealth

jeffbrandt May 03, 1:55am via TweetDeck

#mHealth grt event thnks, look forward to next

kimwhit May 03, 1:55am via TweetChat

thx @iMedicalApps for facilitating - look forward to more discussion #mhealth

@BChanMed @iMedicalApps Wow, awesome job with #mHealth chat! Great discussion!

SpitzStrategy May 03, 1:56am via TweetDeck

Paradoxically we are only a few years from the "mobile" in #mhealth ceasing to have meaning due to its omnipresence

MisraSatish May 03, 1:56am via TweetChat

T3 should clarify, validates to impact cost, survival, etc on a large scale #mHealth

katseyemedia May 03, 1:56am via TweetChat

@iMedicalApps Cheers to you for making this happen! #mHealth
